Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6,19,21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Benetti, et al (5894843).

Applicant's earliest priority dates back to the divisional filed on 1/19/00. The claimed subject matter was not disclosed in the CIP 08/281891 and the CIP 08/023778.

Benetti et al discloses a method for cardiac surgery on a heart comprising the steps of making at least one access port into the chest through an intercostals space where a first aspect of the heart faces the access port and the second aspect of the heart faces away from the port. The surgical method includes the introduction of a retraction instrument through the port, manipulating the instrument to reposition the heart into a retracted position while the ribs and sternum remains intact.

Claims 2-3,5-6,19,21,22,23,24,25 see columns 3 and 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Benetti et al (5894843) as applied supra.

Benetti, et al does not disclose the specific target arteries and by pass. Examiner contends that the various methods of bypass utilizing the different vessels is well known in the art and does not form the basis of this invention. Examiner maintains that the various bypass procedures, if not inherent, in Benetti, et al would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art as these procedures are routinely performed in surgical procedures with radical sternotomy. The minimal intrusion of the intercostals opening is a means for preventing the radical approach of cutting the sternum. Albeit, once the heart cavity is exposed to the surgeon by the intercostals approach, all routine bypass employed by the sternotomy would be available to the surgeon using the intercostals procedures.
